40 TO 1 SHOT WON THE NURSERY AND UPSET THE TALENT

Books Won Thousands in the Defeat of Uncle, the Favorite in Belmont

Park's Feature Event, Fal-cada Being Second

(Special to The Evening World.)

BELMONT PARK RACE TRACK, Oct. 12.—The Nursery Handicap, a feature of the card here to-day, furnished a big upset for the talent. Dorante, a 40 to 1 shot, won it, coming out of the bunch like a shot at the end to beat out Falcada by two lengths.

Uncle was a lukewarm favorite. There was plenty of 3 to 1 to be had against him and his stablemate. Meeske in the betting ring and these encloping odds caused the public to go to the Hildreth pair for thousands. Sooner, too, was well-played.

A mysterious tip on Fort Johnson enabled the books to gather hundreds more. Tom Costigan went around the betting on Fort Johnson across the board at every book. Costigan has a following that also took greedily the Fort Johnson tip.

Falcada led all the way to the last sixteenth, where he gave away to the long shot. Fair play was third, a half-length behind Falcada, while Uncle finished far back, a half-length behind Meelick and Spooher was sixth.

Winnings $50,000 on Dorante.

Fred Mayer, who represents a bunch of insiders, is reported to have won all $50,000 on Dorante, the Nursery win-

FIREMEN GET MEDALS FOR HEROIC WORK

Mayor McClellan Officials at the Interesting Annual Ceremony in Union Square.

McClellan officiated at a presentation of medals for heroic action at a show of members and apparatus of the New York Fire Department, held at Union square, this afternoon. Fire Commissioner Francis J. Laney and Chief Croker were also present.

A mock fire, the Everett House being the supposedly burning structure, was the feature of the day. A signal calling out the engines was sent in from the Mayor's private stand and two and one-half minutes later the imaginary burning building was in the "hands" of the firemen.

Those who received medals were: Fireman Michael Nicklaus, Hook and Ladder Company No. 17, the Bennett medal for saving the life of an unconscious man at a fire at No. 110 West Sixty-first street, November 9, 1906. Robert P. Thompson got the Royal medal. William F. Rousseau the Strong hand and George W. Petrie the Trevor Warren medal. All three firemen were members of Hook and Ladder Company No. 6, and together rescued two women and a child from the sixth floor of the burning tenement at No. 5 Chrystie street, December 12, 1906.

Niclaus was hurt from the muscular hamstrings. He was a fireman for 10 years. He was a member of the Beacon Light and others thought to have a chance. Ironsides got a medal for saving a woman from a burning building.

A report that Nealon was all in was responsible for his price soaring to 5 to 2. He followed the name of Good Luck and the other two came in to win easily. Good Luck held on long enough to beat Ironsides for the place.

Niclaus won the Handicap.

Ironsides was hurt from the muscular hamstrings. He was a fireman for 10 years. He was a member of the Beacon Light and others thought to have a chance. Ironsides got a medal for saving a woman from a burning building.

McClellan, a graduate of Engine Company No. 1, was presented with the Citizen's medal. At a fire at No. 1 Kean street, Brooklyn, Feb. 8, 1906, he rescued a member of his own company, George G. Fox, foreman of Engine Company No. 1, and the fireman's cook, a talkative chief, who annihilated a fire in his car. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, at East Thirty-third street, Manhattan, discovered the body of the cook, who had been suffocated. He was decorated.

To Michael J. Martin was awarded the Brooklyn Eagle medal for rescuing a woman from the fifth floor of No. 15 Mangin street Nov. 26, 1906.
